PRAY THE PSALM OF THE WEEK  Psalm 68:5-6, 35, 1, 3, 7, 10, 19
God is in His holy habitation.*
He gives a home to the / desolate.
The God of Israel is He who / gives strength* and power to His / people.
Let God arise, Let His enemies be / scattered:*
let those also who hate Him flee be/fore Him.
But let the righteous be glad: let them rejoice be/fore God;*
yes, let them rejoice exceedingly.
O God, when you went out before Your / people,*
you, O God, provided from Your goodness / for the poor.
Blessed be the Lord, who daily loads us with / benefits,* the God of our salvation!

BLESS YOURSELF WITH THE HOLY CROSS AND SAY:
In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.

SAY THE APOSTLES’ CREED
I believe in God, the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth.
And in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried. He descended into hell. The third day He rose again from the dead. He ascended into heaven and sits at the right hand of God, the Father Almighty. From thence He will come to judge the living and the dead.
I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy Christian church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

PRAY THE MORNING OR EVENING PRAYER
Almighty and everlasting God, who are always more ready to hear than we to pray and give more than we either desire or deserve, pour down upon us the abundance of Your mercy, forgiving those things of which our conscience is afraid and giving us those good things that we are not worthy to ask, except through the merits and mediation of Christ, our Lord: through the same Jesus Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

Evening. I thank you, my heavenly Father, through Jesus Christ, Your dear Son, that You have graciously kept me this day; and I pray that You would forgive me all my sins where I have done wrong, and graciously keep me this night. For into Your hands, I commend myself, my body and soul, and all things. Let Your holy angel be with me, that the evil foe may have no power over me. Amen.
SCRIPTURE: Luke 18:9-14 – Humility before God

Two men go up the temple to pray. One stands by himself and praises himself. The other stands far off and begs mercy from God, and God gives it. He “went down to his house justified,” that is, forgiven and reconciled to God. Righteousness is given as a gift to those who know their great need, as the tax collector did. But those who would assert their own righteousness, ironically, are unrighteous before God. Christ has come for sinners. If you would have Him and His righteousness, count yourself as such.

Lord Jesus, have mercy on me, a sinner!

SCRIPTURE: Psalm 119:81-88 (KAPH) – When will you comfort me?

Not all psalms are nice. The psalms which describe a God who is near to us, the pastoral God who leads us to pastures green and by still waters are in the minority. Rather, much of the psalter is lament. “When will you comfort me?” prays the psalmist. He endures pain, persecution, and suffering unto death. God seems far away. Jesus Himself prayed in His dereliction “My God, why have You forsaken Me?” This is the paradox of suffering: God is near to you even in when He seems most far. Cling to Him still, just as the psalmist does, just as Christ does. There is Presence in His absence. The Father did not abandon His Son.

Neither will He abandon you. Lord, give me life, that I may keep Thy testimonies.

SCRIPTURE: 1 Corinthians 15:1-10 – Reminders

“Now I would remind you, brothers, of the gospel I preached to you...” Paul had founded the churches in Corinth a few years earlier. It was certainly a labor of love, as he spent a year and six months there preaching and teaching (Acts 18:11). And yet, for all his teaching, exhortation, and catechesis, he reminds them once again of the substance of the gospel (reminiscent of the Apostles’ Creed), “Christ died for our sins...he was buried...raised...appeared to many.”

We Christians never get beyond the Gospel, the reality of our justification for the week of September 1-7, 2019

THEME OF THE WEEK: Believing Humility

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus describes the character of the Christian in terms which are repulsive to the unbelieving world. Those who in Christ are “blessed” are the poor in spirit, the mourners, the persecuted, the meek, the merciful – hardly virtues in our world. And so you see, you cannot follow after the Christ as a proud peacock, strutting about in delusions of self-importance, desiring God and others to take notice of you. Rather you know your place as a creature of your Creator, and a sinful one at that. This is the posture of faith, a “believing humility” which knows who the merciful God is, and who we are as the objects of His mercy.

SCRIPTURE: Luke 7:36-50 – Many sins, much forgiveness

Hearing this account of our Lord, it is our tendency to put ourselves in the position of the woman of the city, the sinner, who wet the Lord’s feet with her tears of repentance. This is a fine thing. But the reality is that we are more often akin to Simon the Pharisee. We may perhaps believe that Jesus is the Christ, but we keep Him at arm’s length, attending to His word only when it is convenient to do so, and we certainly do not fall down weeping for our sins! What a shameful sight that would be! But that is the humility of faith which the Lord is looking for. He has mercy to give. Our sins, which are many, are indeed forgiven for Christ’s sake.

Lord, make me to know my sins, that I may thank You aright.

SCRIPTURE: Romans 10:4-18 – The Humble Ear

How many marriages would survive even the first year if the marriage depended solely on how couples felt about each other at any given time? Not many. It takes the outward, objective vow of marriage and the power of the Holy Spirit to make Holy Marriage. In a similar way, our status before God is not dependent upon what we might think about it. Our feelings, our “gut”, and our instincts are deceiving. It takes the outward, objective word of God to be preached into the ear to declare both law and gospel to us. All of our emotions, however powerful or convincing must be subjected to that most humble of organs – the ear. Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of Christ. Lord, open my ears that I may hear Your truth. Amen.

SCRIPTURE: Psalm 147 – God Heals the Brokenhearted

When it comes to how the world views religion, it is thought that religion primarily exists to give one a sense of purpose, fulfillment, to make him a better person, and so forth. However, the Christian religion is not like that. It may indeed give purpose, fulfillment and even joy, but the principle purpose of true Religion is that sinners would find forgiveness and life in God. It is not a self-help program or a way to deal with the ups and downs of life, it is a death and resurrection in which God heals the brokenhearted and binds up the afflicted. He does not set us free of tasks to do in order to keep us in His good graces. He comes to us, delights in us, suffers for us, forgives us and takes us to Himself.

Lord, keep me in this religion always. Amen.

To support the work of these devotions please visit www.whatdoesthismean.org/support aroundthewordjournal.com. Scripture quotations are from The Holy Bible, English Standard Version® (ESV®), copyright © 2001 by Crossway, a publishing ministry of Good News Publishers. Used by permission. All rights reserved. Thank you to sancius.org and lutheran-hymnal.com for the Collects and Hymns. This week’s author is Pastor Brandon Ross. He and his wife Mackenzie have four children. He is pastor of Faith Lutheran Church in Johnstown, Colorado (www.faithjohnstown.org).